City of Beacon | COVID-19 Update | 21 March 2020 5 PM

This is Beacon Mayor Lee Kyriacou, with an update for residents on COVID-19 / coronavirus.

I will regularly communicate official information on COVID-19, as well as about its impacts on our lives here in Beacon.

Please rely on New York State and Dutchess County as official sources. The experts are focused on “flattening the curve” of transmission – to protect at-risk individuals and prevent an overload of our healthcare system.

The current emergency orders from the Governor include:

- Non-essential private workers must stay home after Sunday 8 PM;
- Non-essential gatherings of any size are temporarily banned;
- The closure of non-essential stores is extended to retail malls and personal care services – takeout/delivery is okay for food establishments.

Go to state and county websites for information – you can sign up to receive emails from them:

- <https://coronavirus.health.ny.gov/home>
- <https://www.dutchessny.gov/> and click on the COVID-19 link.

Go to Channel 22 or the City of Beacon website (www.cityofbeacon.org) for local information.

We need to look out for each other.

Thank you.
